FOREWORD

AT THE END of a job well and successfully done, it is often profitable and interesting to look back on past events and to recall those personal experiences which have added to our knowledge, character, and happiness. So it is now that we look back over the school year 1952, and we remember the accomplishments and the experiences, small and large, which always will be a part of us. It has been a fine year for Western and for us individually, and a year of many successes in varied fields. This year, more than ever before, a Westerner has had a wide choice of studies, activities, and sports. It is with this thought in mind, the scope and breadth of this year's accomplishments, that we have striven to record the year in this, your 1952 WESTERNER.

COLONEL GEORGE ALLEN HAWKINS, JR.

"MAY I say that tradition is a priceless thing, if it is the proper kind of tradition. It can be secured only by years of constant struggle and perseverance. It can be maintained only at the cost of everlasting vigilance. You and I have that asset here at Western. Let's dedicate ourselves to guarding and fostering it."

The preceding paragraph was written by Colonel Hawkins when he came to Western in 1938. He pledged himself therein to constant perseverance in upholding the traditions of the Western Cadets, namely excellence in drill and military science. It has been evident to all who have known him that the Colonel not only preserved these traditions, but also greatly expanded them. During his eleven years of service here, Western placed first in nine annual battalion drills and seven company competitiveness. This is a record without parallel in the history of the Corps, and it is direct evidence of the extreme vigor and efficiency of the Colonel as a military instructor. He has left an impression of sincere admiration and respect on all who knew him, and it is with deepest regret that we mark his untimely passing.

TO THE GRADUATES OF 1952

YOUR WESTERN staff has asked me to write a few paragraphs on the topic, "How Western Contributes to the Making of the Well-Rounded Individual," which is, I understand, the general theme of the 1952 edition. This, it seems to me, should not be very difficult. Let us start by looking at the school's basic educational philosophy.

You have studied, I am sure, about "The Humanities" and how, during the Renaissance, the Humanists revived the ancient learnings, embellished them, preserved them, and passed them down to modern times. Our colleges accepted them, included them in their curriculums, and demanded from the preparatory school graduates a basic knowledge of the fundamentals so that they could make an easy transition from the lower school to the university level. About this time, between fifty and seventy-five years ago, the standard, four-year, secondary school course was developed. It contained the study of one's native tongue, foreign languages, science, history, and mathematics.

Western accepted this philosophy upon its founding sixty-two years ago, and through the long years of its illustrious history, has held to the premise that the doctrine is sound and that it "contributes to the well-rounded individual." Through the intervening years, however, the school has added many possible electives—art, music, mechanical drawing, speech, military training, physical education, home nursing, printing, sewing, and cooking. Despite this modernization, Western has always emphasized strongly its academic training and recommended only a judicious mixture of the "newer subjects."

Regardless of how short such a write-up must necessarily be, it cannot be complete without some mention of extra-curricular activities. No conscientious and ambitious student should be without some training in the democratic self-government that is given in these eminently worthwhile, school-sponsored organizations. To overlook this field offerings is to be like a prospector who fails to find the nuggets about him because he is always looking beyond the hills, or at the far horizon, for the fabled pot of gold at the end of the rainbow. Yes, the "well-rounded individual" will have some experience in the various student clubs where a trained Faculty Adviser is always ready to help, counsel, and direct the thinking of the group.

This, the school's doctrine and philosophy, we believe is sound. About thirty-five per cent of you will enter some kind of gainful employment immediately after graduation. Approximately sixty-five per cent will enroll in colleges or other institutions of higher learning. That you are well-grounded in the fundamentals of learning, and well-rounded as individuals, will be attested by your success. Fortuitous events also will help. But wherever you go, the Spirit of Western will follow you, will be proud of you, will welcome you back. Hitch your wagon to the Stars! Some one has said, "It is better to experience high failure than low success." Do not, therefore, " lose the good you oft might win, By fearing to attempt!"

NATHANIEL A. DANOWSKY, Principal

Sincerely yours,

NATHANIEL A. DANOWSKY

MR. ROBERT S. ANDERSON,
Assistant Principal

SPEAKING of the schools of Virginia in 1821, Thomas Jefferson said, "Let us keep our eyes steadily on the whole system." This philosophy of an educational system is just as sound for Western today, as it was for the Commonwealth of Virginia one-hundred and thirty-one years ago.

So, in the development of a well-rounded individual, let us keep our eyes steadily on the whole system. In so doing, we must examine many facets in our educational program: the adequacy of the physical plant, the quality of the instruction, the breadth of the curriculum, and the opportunity provided for the development of good citizenship.

The many extra-curricular activities in the school program are built upon the broad principle that the school is a laboratory for citizenship in the preparation of a student for membership in a democracy. In a well integrated program, the curricular and the extra-curricular activities are mutually complementary so that there is a reciprocal relationship between the program and the product. The success with which Western achieves these objectives rests with its graduates in the challenge democracy poses for promoting a world citizenship worthy of its heritage.

ROBERT S. ANDERSON

AS ANOTHER school year comes to a close, our thoughts will inevitably turn to the events of this year, and we welcome the record, in pictures and in words, which the WESTERNER provides for us.

For each Western group such a retrospect will recall individual experiences, memories of happy occasions and of some perhaps less happy, which are their own unique heritage. There is the first school dance, and others which followed; the football games and cadet drills; the friendships formed and good times shared; the accomplishments and even the failures. All these and more were indelibly written in the hearts of each Western student; but in the years to come the record in the WESTERNER will make them come alive again, as the men and women of tomorrow review the activities of the school year 1951-1952.

For you who are students at Western High School, the WESTERNER, in years to come, will lead you back to these happy student days when the Western-Roosevelt basketball game was a thrilling experience, or when the judges' decision on the Competitive Drill Field held everyone spell-bound for what seemed an interminably long time. It may recall for you classroom experiences and the wide range of opportunities offered to you there. It may remind you that it was at Western you learned to show good sportsmanship in the face of victory or defeat, and received the guidance and encouragement which helped you build fine characters in your mature years. As the Editors of this volume have so well expressed it in the Foreward, it may remind you of the accomplishments and the experiences, small and large, which will always be a part of you.

As you enjoy the Present, perhaps you could more surely guarantee an even greater enjoyment in the Future, if you would strive to make all of Today's activities something to be proud to look back upon Tomorrow.

THIS YEAR Western's Faculty, both the old and new members, have contributed immeasurably to the development of the well-rounded Western student. The student body has been aware of their everpresent influence both in the classroom and in outside activities.

Never let it be said that Western's teachers are not right up to date in their courses. Mr. Struble, science teacher, has exemplified this fact. In order that he might be well versed on the latest developments in his field, he spent last summer attending Massachusetts Institute of Technology on a science fellowship.

In the Cadet Corps, the new military instructor, Lieutenant Hayes, has seen military service since 1944. He spent two years in France, Belgium, and Germany. This year, Lt. Hayes succeeded in almost doubling the corps enrollment, which had been dropping steadily in recent years.

A number of new courses were added this year; among them is a records class, ably taught by Miss Nell Bass, and driver's training, under the direction of Mr. Milton Sarris, a new member of our faculty, who has played a great part in impressing upon our students the importance of safe driving.

Dr. Maud McPherson, who retired last June, wrote us that she was enjoying the summer visiting missions, art colonies, and colleges in the West. She returned to Washington during the first semester and visited Western at Christmas.

Another important and interesting addition to the faculty is Miss Irene Knox, from Anacostia High School, who replaced Mrs. Bissonette as teacher of the home economics classes. Miss Knox is an experienced and enthusiastic Girl Scout leader. In the summer of 1949, she accompanied fifty American Girl Scouts on a European tour. At present, she is a counselor in U. S. camps, and spends her summers in Girl Scout work.

Aside from teaching, many members of the faculty spend their spare time in pursuit of their various hobbies. For instance, Mrs. Wade is a floral enthusiast and has won many ribbons and prizes for unusual and lovely designs. The sisters in our faculty, Mrs. Kirk and Miss Taylor, used many of their spare hours in restoring an old home in Charlottesville, Virginia.

This year, a faculty committee was formed to obtain and plan a memorial window honoring Western's war dead. Miss Taylor was chairman of the group, through whose efforts the memorial will be installed early next spring.

The Junior Class

THIS YEAR, the Junior Class has been unusually active and successful in school activities, particularly in the clubs. Margaret Herrold has been President of the Drama Club and had a leading role in "Twelfth Night;" Leigh Fuller was Treasurer of the Spanish Club; Ashby Moncure, Vice-President of Gluck Auf; Betty Jones, Treasurer of Gluck Auf; Shirley Alexander, Vice-President of the Latin Club; James Hyde, Secretary of Gluck Auf; Bob Bissett, Vice-President of the Printing Club; Bob Polend, President of the Booster Club; and many other Juniors have held offices in the various clubs.

In the Cadets, Ashby Moncure, Henry Gering, and John Strickler distinguished themselves by holding ranks usually held by Seniors.

Also, the Junior Class has given valuable aid to Western's publications. Charlotte Yates, Peggy Busick, Louise Rushton, Nancy Tyson, Peter Deuel, Marion Fischer, Shirley Guenther, Lenore Gordon, and Marian Testa have been members of the Breeze Staff; and Charles Coleman, Mary Louise Rushton, Lynette Peters, and Peggy Busick have helped in compiling the 1952 WESTERNER.

Sue Fryer brought honor to the school by placing among the top four in the national "I Speak for Democracy" contest.

In view of their accomplishments, it is evident that the Senior Class of 1953 will be an outstanding one.

The Sophomore Class

THE NEWCOMERS to Western this year were not long finding their places in school activities and many have made commendable records.

A number of the Sophomore Class joined the Choral Group; Cyanne Hanson's solo in the Christmas Pageant was very enjoyable.

Answering an urgent need for blood donors for the nation's fighting men, Millicent Reynolds and Lois Chapman worked for the American Red Cross Blood Bank Association this year.

Helping in the publication of the 1952 WESTERNER were Billy Bush and Larry Spencer, who did much of the photographic work, and Sue Bevans, Doris Brodt, and Lois Chapman, who assisted in preparation of the copy.

Another very significant achievement was made by Michael Gering, who took top honors in Western's American Legion Oratorical Contest with his excellent speech on "Freedom Defined."

The Cadets received many new additions from the Sophomore Class. With their continued support Western will be able to maintain a large Cadet Corps.

The Class of 1954 has made a brilliant start at Western. With their continued good work, we may look forward to a successful future for this class.

SCENES AROUND SCHOOL

HIGH

"Look how the bank has been remodeled!" "Did you see that 1952 Pontiac the drivers' training class uses?" "My, it seems good to get back after all." "How many of these little cards do we have to fill out?" "How do you get to room 305?" These are just a few comments heard after the opening of school on September 12.

Newcomers to Western were officially welcomed at the Orientation Assembly. Faculty and student speakers gave a brief preview of life at Western. Soon the newness of the first few days wore off, and every student, new or old, was ready to settle down to routine.

The first Home and School Association meeting, held on October 3, gave parents a chance to become acquainted with the teachers. Many students, especially sophomores, attended this event with their parents.

The football season, with its pep assemblies and many exciting moments, got into full swing with the first crisp winds of fall. Friday football games were keenly anticipated by everyone.

Gradually, clubs held their first meetings of the school year and elected officers. The Drama Club set right to work and presented Shakespeare's "Twelfth Night" at an assembly on November 2. Margaret Herrold as Viola, Gayla April as the clown, Holly O'Connor as Lady Olivia, and Bob Barash as Sir Toby Belch were four outstanding performers. The antics of the clown were especially enjoyed by all.

On November 20, the annual Thanksgiving Assembly was held, with sections donating money and baskets of food for the needy. The Y-Teens made a very impressive donation by giving five bushels of canned foods.

After the rush of the Thanksgiving holidays, club pictures were taken for the WESTERNER under the direction of Clubs Editor, Maxine Coleman. With pictures running on a strict schedule, students were leaving classes at all times to be on time for a certain picture. The day was a busy one with many staff members assisting the photographer.

LIGHTS

The February Seniors held their elections and chose as president, Tom Turco; vice-president, Astrid Carlson; secretary, Sarah McNutt; and treasurer, Tom Topping.

The sound of Christmas music could be heard resounding throughout the halls of Western long before the gay holiday season began. Yes, the Choir was preparing songs for its Christmas performances. Besides practicing for the Christmas Pageant, a well-loved tradition at Western, our songsters also prepared a selection of Christmas carols to sing over radio station WMAL at Jim Gibbon's Country Store. Eileen Pardo sang a beautiful solo, "Silent Night," on this radio program.

When the February Seniors decorated the big Christmas tree in the main lobby, all Westernites knew that the Christmas Season was here at last. Alumni roaming throughout the halls lent an air of nostalgia. The Christmas Pageant took place on Friday, December 21. The beautiful tableaux and the excellent choral reading during the religious portion of the Pageant were some of the best ever. In the second half of the program, Western's new faculty members were introduced to the assembly and were presented gifts as a sort of formal initiation to Western. Then the alumni greeted everyone from the stage.

Homework and classes were soon forgotten that evening as the "W" Clubs' Snowball Dance got under way.

Vacation days sped by and January 2 came around almost too quickly. The first event of the post-holidays was the choosing of eight girls for next year's cheerleading team. Of the fifty girls who turned out for the first tryouts in November the best had to be selected. The eight new cheerleaders pictured are: Left to right—Peggy Ward, Louise Rushton, Helen Caskie, Lillian Menne, Sharon Stokes, Sue Hoffman, Mary Dodson, and Pat DeJoy.

The Quartet Assembly, sponsored by the Student Council, was especially enjoyed by everyone. Many practice sessions were held in order to make a good performance. The instrumental quartet, composed of Jack Cochrane, Quin Elson, Tom Virnelson, and Dick Zern gave a terrific performance, as usual.

This quartet has played for many events this year.

Time came again for Student Council elections. Many girl contenders were noticed and for once, girls were elected to three high offices. Melicent Rupp, with her challenging speech, was elected president and Gloria Steinem, vice-president. Sharon Stokes was our new secretary and Joe Matusek, our treasurer.

All too quickly Midyear Graduation time and its events came around. The Senior Prom was held at Scott's Hotel with many students supporting and attending the dance. Miss Muriel Hoover, section teacher, gave the graduates a unique fare-well party. The final event of senior activities, graduation, was held on January 31. Astrid Carlson was class Valedictorian with Charles Nichols as Salutatorian.

The Air Force Band entertained us on the afternoon of February 7. Since music assemblies are among the most popular at Western, everyone enjoyed the musical routines of this very versatile band.

Valentine Bundle Day, an old custom, brought in scads of old clothes to be reconditioned for the less fortunate. Many unusual skits were presented in order to bring clothes on the stage in a unique way. The WESTERNER section took this opportunity for some extra advertising and spelled out the year-book's name by means of bent coat hangers with old clothes tied on them.

On February 28 the Phi Beta Rho Assembly was held, with Dean Elmer Louis Kayser of George Washington University giving an address to the student body. Students on the honor roll for five semesters, four of them at Western, are eligible for membership.

The three days before Washington's birthday holidays saw many activities, including Open House in the WESTERNER Office. Open House was held in order to acquaint the students with the activities of the WESTERNER section. Subscriptions were taken, and each day one name was picked from the new subscribers. This lucky person won a prize. From the Sophomores, Barbara Hall won. She was presented her gift by Allen Robnett, Business Manager.

On Thursday evening, February 21, the Cadet Ball was held in the Girls' Gym. Melicent Rupp reigned as queen with Gloria Steinem and Peggy Ward as her princesses. Having reached their membership goal of 100, the Cadets had good reasons to celebrate in a big way. The Corps in their full dress lent a romantic air to the whole affair.

Student Day, held on Tuesday, March 4, gave Western's administrative staffs and faculty a chance to sit back, for once, and watch the students bravely trying to take their places. The day was really an experience for everyone and made the students appreciate more the work of their teachers.

Senior elections were completed on March 26 after two days of preliminary elections and ballots. Elected to lead the senior class were Phil Leder, president; Gloria Steinem, vice-president; Peggy Smith, secretary; and Jack Gerns, treasurer.

The Spring Play, "Stardust", was presented by the Drama Club on April 3 and 4 in the auditorium. This three-act comedy, a satire on a conception of the drama, was enjoyed by everyone. Prudence, the main role, was ably and effectively played by Holly O'Connor. Outstanding support was given to her by Margaret Herrold as Claire Carter, Bob Barash as Jerry Flanagan, Helen Caskie as Janet Ross, John Couture as Mr. Bach, and Allen Robnett as Phil Ford.

With Senior Class meetings being held and college acceptances being received, we realized that time was coming soon for us to take leave of Western. As clubs were giving farewell parties, yearbooks were handed out, the Senior Prom was held, and finally graduation, both a sad and happy day, was held; we knew our days at Western had come to an end. Here's hoping we may see each other at the alumni meeting at Christmas. Who knows, the Class of 1952 may have a reunion in 1984!

Having an active student government is a necessary part of any truly progressive school. Because every section room has two representatives on the council, a great cross-section of the school is brought together in the meetings. Projects accomplished by the council have been a student day, an active club room program, and orientation assembly for newcomers, a driver's

Those students who had been listed on the Honor Roll for five semesters were eligible this year for Phi Beta Rho, the Western scholastic honor society. Sponsored by Miss Richmond, the society has sought to provide interesting activities for its members, such as trips to the Naval Observatory and the Bureau of Standards. Several parties were given for the members, and at the mid-year induction assembly, Dean Elmer Louis Kayser, of George Washington University, spoke to the student body.

COG

The Cog, a national organization for mechanical drawing, selects its members for their ability in mechanical drawing and for their scholastic records. The sale of refreshments at football games and the sale of school supplies and emblems are a few of the many evidences of the Cog around Western. All profits go into the school. In the social phase of school life, this organization sponsors the very delightful Cog Hop each Spring. Under the able leadership of Mrs. Kirk, the Cog has been an active part of school life.

BREEZE

The Western Breeze, the school newspaper, provides an outlet for those who are journalistically inclined. It acquaints the student with his schoolmates, through interviews; and with school activities, through news and sports stories; and with teenagers' feelings on varied subjects, through editorials.

In the Evening Star Scholastic Writing Contest, the following members of the Breeze staff won awards in the journalism classification: Dick Sincoff, a gold key and five certificates for sports writing; Dorothy Collins and Ned Bright, each a certificate for feature writing; and Dorothy Collins and Louise Rushton, each a certificate for editorial writing.

Despite the fact that Miss Myrtle Bray, the staff adviser, was out for several months with a back injury, the Staff was able to continue functioning because of the fine training received under her teaching.

The Staff is grateful to those who assisted during Miss Bray's absence—especially to Mrs. Ruth L. Wilson, substitute for Miss Bray.

Western is proud of the fine record the Breeze maintains in the journalistic field. The Columbia Scholastic Press Association has given the Breeze a Medalist rating for three consecutive years and the National Scholastic Press Association, the All-American rating for eight years.

Whenever a job needs to be done at Western, Mr. Danowsky invariably calls upon the Y-Teens. This girls' organization, which is affiliated with the Young Women's Christian Associations, has been an active part of Western for many years. Until a few years ago the organization was called the Girl Reserves. This club serves to promote friendship among many girls. By entertaining the cadets at a party and dance, the members have made many more acquaintances which help contribute to a well-rounded personality. Collecting canned goods for charity at Halloween, selling Christmas seals, and entertaining orphaned children at Christmas have given the Y-Teen members a feeling of satisfaction and accomplishment and has won for them a real place in community life.

DRAMA CLUB

The Drama Club at Western is now virtually a tradition. For many years the club has made a significant contribution to the welfare of the students who have participated in its activities. This is true primarily because the Drama Club does more perhaps than any other organization to develop self-confidence and poise in the student. This development the members consider their major function. They endeavor also to encourage and promote interest in the theatre. By presenting their productions to the student body, they hope that they have brought into the school life some measure of entertainment and diversion.

BOOSTER CLUB

Since its organization two years ago, the Booster Club has built up school spirit by sponsoring pep assemblies and spreading good will among all the students. Before all major athletic events there is a pep assembly with the cheerleaders, as well as many other active club members, participating. To promote greater attendance at all school functions, the members set good examples by attending most all games and dances themselves. As the club is open to everyone in school, it offers every student an opportunity to become a member of a very active club.

To encourage students to acquire better knowledge and appreciation of the language, the culture, and the customs of the Spanish speaking countries is the main objective of the Spanish Club. The Club also provides an opportunity for the members to enjoy activities with people of their own ages and interests. The programs of the club, which have included an audience-participation quiz, technicolor films, and a talent show, give a very vivid picture of the life, history, and geography of Latin-American countries.

SPANISH CLUB

FRENCH

By presenting monthly programs that help to explain more fully the French life and culture, the French Club helps the student become well-rounded and aware of another country's civilization. Skits done in French are popular at every meeting, which give the student a chance to act and speak in French before a group. Talent shows, French films, and native French speakers are but a few of the club's diversions.

To promote interest in and appreciation for the study of Latin and the Roman Civilization, and to provide wholesome fellowship for all the Latin students are the goals of the Latin Club. Programs include movies, a field trip to Dumbarton Oaks, and a mythological quiz, all of which present a broad view of Roman history. Skits and talks given by Latin students stress the importance of taking Latin in the modern world and especially its value in the study of English and the Romance languages. At each meeting, students are given an opportunity to make new acquaintances and to converse informally while refreshments are served.

Through the years, the Debate Club has remained among the most active of the extra-curricular groups, filling a definite need of both the student body and the school. Students find in the Debate Club an opportunity to develop ease in public speaking, to learn to formulate arguments quickly and to take a stronger interest in current events. Whenever Western is represented at interhigh discussions and conferences, one can count on seeing Debate Club members in the group.

SCIENCE CLUB

The Science Club plays a large part in Western's school life, filling a real need in the lives of the numerous science enthusiasts. Although the club is comprised mostly of science students, there are some in the club who are not taking any of the three sciences offered at Western. The members are not just onlookers; many of the demonstrations are put on by the students. Movies shown at meetings, field trips taken by the club members to places of interest, and physical and chemical demonstrations teach science in an interesting manner.

The main objective of the Aviation Club is to further interest in the fields of civil, military, and commercial flying. Using the link trainer gives the students an opportunity to get some experience in piloting a plane before actually flying. The study of meteorology, navigation, aerodynamics, and engines gives the basis for a good understanding of flying.

PRINTERS' CLUB

The Western Printers' Club is made up of boys who are majoring in printing and are making grades of A or B. The print shop is a valuable part of Western, and its contributions of printing to the school have been outstanding. Having an active print shop and course in our school shows that boys have an opportunity to learn something besides the regular academic courses. The shop prints various posters, graduation announcements, and commencement programs. The club, although it is only in its third year, has made many worthwhile contributions to better school life.

They have not only aided in soliciting subscriptions and collecting money, but have also kept the school aware of the progress of the Staff in assembling the book. Besides periodic meetings, the group has held several enjoyable parties.

CHOIR

Music is an important contribution to the well-roundedness of Western's students. The school is very fortunate to have an excellent music instructor, Mr. Harmon Nicodemus, and a well-organized singing group. Chosen for their musical ability, their voices, and their reliability, the members strive to present effective musical productions to the students each year. Talented musicians are given a chance to render solos in various performances. Performing before an audience is often a major factor in helping a pupil decide to follow a professional career.

The Boys' "W" Club is made up of lettermen who have been passed by a special faculty committee on eligibility, scholarship, and citizenship. Maintaining order in the halls, in the assemblies, and in the cafeteria is the main function of the club. An addition to the social life of the school is the annual "Snowball Dance", given in co-operation with the Girls' "W" Club. The traditional reunion of alumni at this dance always makes it a big success. A motto which is symbolic of the club is: "So break not the rules today; these hearty lettermen stalk the halls for prey."

BOYS' "W"

GIRLS' "W"

Aside from the regular academic clubs, Western has special organizations for boys and girls who have distinguished themselves in sports. Girls who have won letters through sports, or points accumulated from participating in various sports, are eligible for membership in the Girls' "W" Club. To help keep Western functioning smoothly and orderly, the members are given many responsibilities, which include keeping order in the assemblies, the halls, and in the lunchroom. The members also see that school rules are observed. Friendly competitive games with other high schools and the planning of annual dances with the Boys' "W" Club also occupy the time of the members.

A most popular sport at Western among the girls is the Archery Club. Popular demand for after-school archery practice helped to formulate this club. Members improve their skills, prepare for competitive shooting, and participate in keen competition in this club, which meets in both the fall and the spring. CLUB SUMMARY

The smaller clubs of Western offer a variety of activities to student life. The Red Cross, a service club, with the help of student contributions sends toys to children's wards, fills Christmas stockings and sends cards and cookies to hospitals. Make-up club members render a service in making up Drama Club members before their stage performances. Western's Orchestra plays a major part in auditorium programs by playing for assemblies, for the Christmas pageant, and for graduation exercises, and by giving their own musical assembly each year. Along with its active club meetings, the German Club does a fine job of entertaining foreign visitors to the school and of pointing out to them the activities of Western.

Best wishes and

standing work on both offense and defense, Bob Govan, Henry Brown, and Jim Bakhtiar were placed on the all-high's second team. Western fans are looking forward to a more experienced squad next year and have hopes of coming up with a successful season.

MECHANICSBURG 26 WESTERN 6

In their first outing of the year, Western traveled to Mechanicsburg, Pa., to take on the local high school. The experienced home team quickly took charge of the game as John Bricker passed 27 yards to Roger Hoke for a score. A few plays later, Jim Browning, the offensive star of the game, passed to Bob Eckert for the Wildcat's second tally. Browning scored the last two touchdowns on runs of 17 and 2 yds. Although the Raiders were outclassed and outplayed, a few bright spots appeared for them in the form of punts by Howard Jenkins and Wayne August. Billy Richardson scored from 2 yards out for the Big Red, and Jim Bakhtiar was the standout on defense.

WESTERN 34 CHAMBERLAIN 0

In their second game of the season and their first inter-high clash, Western was matched with an undermanned Chamberlain squad, and the Red and White romped 34-0. Billy Richardson started the scoring parade with a thrilling 62 yard end run in the first period. In the second quarter, Arnie Scribner passed 30 yards to Wayne August to give Western a 13-0 halftime lead. Early in the third period, Bakhtiar recovered a fumble and raced across the goal for another score. Western's remaining scores were gained on a pass from Roger Turner to August and on a plunge by George Hervey from two yards out.

EASTERN 14 WESTERN 0

Looking for their second interhigh win, The Raiders played host to the defending champions and this year's favorite, Eastern. The game was a close one, right down to the wire, with Western losing valuable chances to score. The Western line played good ball, and, led by Bakhtiar, Henry Brown, and Phil Leder, they were able to bottle up the Eastern backs in good fashion. Brown was the standout on defense, recovering two fumbles and playing the entire first half. Eastern first drew blood in the second quarter when Bill Hunter intercepted a Turner pass and ran 63 yards for a score behind brilliant downfield blocking.

COOLIDGE 21 WESTERN 12

After suffering a defeat at the hands of Eastern, the Big Red hoped to get back in winning form when they entertained Coolidge on October 12. In the first quarter, climaxing a sustained drive, Arnie Scribner passed to Wayne August for six yards and a touchdown. However, the lead was short lived, as Coolidge went in front in the second period on a 47 yard pass from Bill McCoy to Fred Sheppard. Coolidge scored twice more to counteract Western's final tally in the third period, when Scribner passed again, this time 55 yards to Jack Gerns for the six points!

ROOSEVELT 12 WESTERN 0

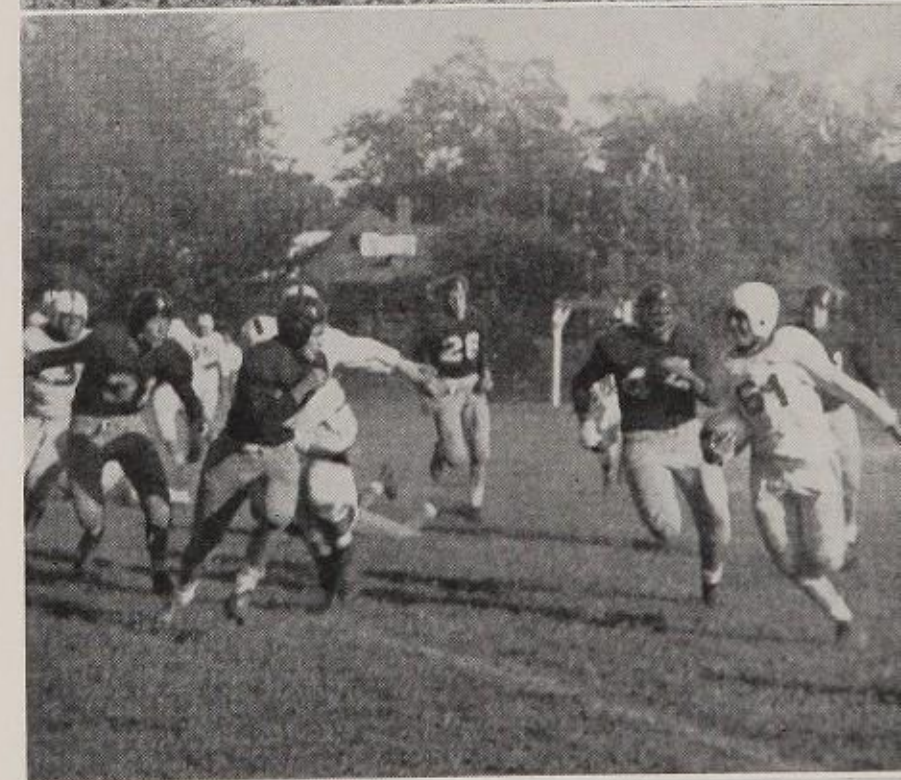

Led by Bill Smith and Phil Perlo, the Rough Riders defeated Western on Roosevelt's field 12-0. The game was a close, hard fought one and neither team scored until Roosevelt broke the ice in the first few minutes of the final period. The two teams battled scorelessly in the first half and the game was unusually even. But in the second half, the Raiders couldn't get going and Roosevelt took over. In the final quarter, the Riders' 15-year-old quarterback, Phil Perlo, scored on a quarterback sneak from the half foot line after he, Smith, and Larry Nardinocchi had engineered the drive downfield. Later in the same period Nardinocchi ran ten yards with a pitch-out from Perlo for Roosevelt's second score. Western's line, led by Bakhtiar and Brown, played well, but their offense was stopped practically cold.

FAIRFAX 13 WESTERN 6

In a night game at the home field of Fairfax, the Fairfax eleven and Red Raiders clashed in a thrilling football game. Fairfax scored first on the initial play of the second period when "Skinny" Saffer passed to George Stover on a play that covered 13 yards. However, on the kickoff, Bob Govan gathered the ball in and took off on a 72 yard romp right up the middle to knot the score at 6-6. Early in the third period, the Rebels marched from their own 27 to the Raiders' end zone. Jimmy Watkins was the backbone of the offense, carrying the ball time after time and reeling off impressive gains. Saffer, who played excellent ball for the victors throughout the season, was stopped cold by the Raider forward wall. Western's trouble was weakness in pass receiving. Nevertheless the Big Red played one of their best games of the year, and the issue was in doubt all the way.

WESTERN 7 ANACOSTIA 0

In their final game of the year, Western traveled across the river to Anacostia. On Western's first play from scrimmage, Jack Gerns dashed through the right side of the line and carried 54 yards to the Anacostia four. Three plays later, Ronnie Sheppard hit the middle of the line and the Raiders were on the scoreboard after just two minutes of the first half. Jim Bakhtiar kicked the extra point. Anacostia threatened late in the first half when Gene Gruglin passed to Bob Smith on Western's four-yard line. However, time ran out, and the Big Red remained in the lead. The rest of the game featured no outstanding action, as neither team could get under way on the muddy turf. The game was played during a steady downpour, and the teams played to practically empty stands. With a victory in their last game, the Western eleven ended with a two win, five loss record.

The 1951-1952 basketball team had a fair season with an 11 win—7 loss record. Selected from the Raider five for the all-High interhigh team was Jim Wexler, who had a great year averaging 18.5 points a game, which was second only to Tech's Snookie Kernan. Arnie Scribner received All-High recognition for his fine play during the year as he finished third in the interhigh scoring race. Returning from last year's varsity were Johnny Klar, who was selected team captain, Bob Govan, Dick Sellers, and Arne Scribner. Coming up from last year's J. V. were Jay Stanton, Jim Wexler, Pete Barr, Bruce McKeithan, Jim Scrivner, Ernie Ruffner, and Mickey Meinke. Denis Whittaker came to us from Florida this year, while Jim Fowler moved up to the varsity during the season to replace Dick Sellers, a February graduate. Although the Raiders didn't win the championship, the Western fans appreciate the efforts made by the players and Mr. Moore throughout the season.

TECH 70 WESTERN 44

Western's initial interhigh basketball game was played against Tech in the Trainers' gym on January 4. McKinley, last year's champs, won 70-44. Utilizing the fast break, the Trainers were not to be denied as they played their usual great game. Stan Kernan, Tech's all-high forward, scored 23 points in the first half but was used sparingly in the second and ended with 29. Until the end of the half, the game was close, but then Tech pulled away. Arnie Scribner scored 15 for the Raiders and was followed by Jim Wexler and Johnny Klar with 13 and 11. Western played a good game, but like many other teams was unable to stop the high scoring Maroons.

COOLIDGE 58 WESTERN 56

In a thrilling game played at the Tech gym, the Coolidge Colts defeated the Big Red by 2 points, 58-56. Coolidge, holding a lead at halftime of 32-18, seemed a cinch to win but the Raiders fought back in the second half until they had pulled ahead. With just a few minutes remaining, Dick Sellers' foul shot put Western in the lead 51-50. Scribner tied the game with 2 free throws with just 25 seconds remaining, but Bill Harrison of the Colts hit with a left handed push shot which won the game. Although the Raiders lost, the highlight of the game was Wexler's brilliant playing as he scored 26 points. Late in the game Wexler and Klar fouled out, which probably cost the Raiders a victory.

WESTERN 69 BELL 35

Both teams seeking their first interhigh win, Bell and Western clashed on January 18 at Tech. Western finally got going and they had no trouble with the Bell quint, winning 69-35. Coach Moore cleared the bench, as every player saw action. Wexler and Scribner led the scoring parade with 19 each but both were removed early in the fourth quarter. It was Western's first interhigh victory and their fourth in seven games.

WESTERN 38 ANACOSTIA 33

Seeking their second win in a row, the Raiders met the Red and Blue from Anacostia and won handily 38-33. After nearly losing a 20-8 margin in the second quarter, the Reds pulled away and took the low scoring decision. Arnie Scribner led both teams by far in the scoring department as he rolled up 21 points and played a fine all-around game. Both Wexler and Scribner played well under the boards as the Raiders put on a third period surge to wrap the game up. Bobby Berry led Anacostia with 11 points.

WESTERN 57 ROOSEVELT 46

Western's next opponent was a highly touted Roosevelt team that had won four straight games before their encounter with the Raiders. In their 57-46 victory, the Western five played their best game of the year. Jim Wexler lead Western with 21 points and was followed by John Klar with 15 and Scribner with 10. Bill Smith, the Riders high-scoring forward, was held to five points by the stiff Raider defenses. After leading 18-17 at the end of the first quarter, Roosevelt was able to score only four points in the entire second period as Western took the lead at the half 31-22 and was never headed.

WILSON 40 WESTERN 36

Continuing with the rivalry that was dropped from the football field, Western and the Green Tigers of Wilson clashed in a thrilling game at the Tech gym. Fighting back from a 23-17 deficit at the half, the Raiders cut Wilson's lead to 30-29 before the Tigers went to work again. Bob Barton led Wilson with 13 points and Chuck Bjourson came through with 12, much to everyone's amazement. Wexler led Western with 14 points, but it wasn't enough to give the Raiders a victory. The game was close throughout but was disappointing as far as Westerners were concerned.

EASTERN 47 WESTERN 44

Practically assuring themselves a playoff position if they could win this game, the Western five met Eastern in an afternoon game at Tech. In a game that was close throughout, the Ramblers came through with a last minute goal and captured the contest 47-44. Led by their big men under the boards, Eastern poured in 11 points before the Raiders could score. However, the Raiders fought back and with Wexler leading the way with 22 points the game developed into an exciting one. But in the last few minutes Eastern pulled the game out of the fire to clinch a playoff spot. Dick Torbett led the victors with 17 points.

WESTERN 53 CHAMBERLAIN 46

Still looking for a playoff berth, the Raider five rallied from the defeat at the hands of Eastern and whipped Chamberlain 53-46. The game was closer than it was expected to be as the Volts fought hard all the way. Jim Wexler led the Reds with 26 points while everyone turned in good performances. Western's added height was a big factor in the victory, as Denis Whitaker and Wexler succeeded in grabbing the majority of the rebounds. After the game it was learned that Wexler had been selected for the All-High basketball team.

WILSON 55 WESTERN 39

In a game that was to break the four way tie for fourth place and a playoff position, Western met Wilson February 18 at McKinley. Wilson won going away 55-39. The Green Tigers jumped to a 7-0 advantage before the Raiders could score and at the end of the first quarter, Western was on the short end of a 19-8 score. Wilson increased its lead to 27-13 at the half and 48-30 at the three quarter mark. Wexler led both teams in scoring with 22 points, while Lonnie Herzbrun was high for Wilson with 19. Wilson played a beautiful floor game and controlled the backboards efficiently. The loss dropped the Raiders from the playoffs and gave them a season record of 11 wins and 7 defeats.

BASEBALL

Fourteen returning players and a large number of newcomers turned out for the baseball tryouts early in March. After the early practices, Coach Bill Richardson began the process of cutting the squad down to a workable size. Last year's nine got into the playoffs final game before losing to Eastern for the city championship. With players like Lou Snouffer, Paul Weinstein, and Johnny Rushton gone, the lineup had to be changed considerably. Leading the hurlers will be Roger Turner, Jim Wexler, and Joe Tennant, with four others to back them up. On the receiving end of the battery will be either Ed Thomas or Bill Dupre, both back from last year's team. Fighting it out for first are Johnny Klar and Jim Fowler. Jim Scrivener will hold down second with Mickey Meinke at shortstop. Jim Bakhtiar and Gary Davidson are contenders for the hot corner. Bob Govan, Eddie Dommel, and Howard Jenkins will be in the starting outfield, while George LaVarn, Carl Rosenbush, and Bill Anglin will fill in if needed. After an impressive 10-2 victory over St. Albans in their opening game, the Raiders showed that they're a hustling ball club on their way to the inter-high championship.

The 1952 track team with only three returning lettermen, had to depend largely on a new group of track hopefuls.

Competing in the sprint this year, the 100 and 220, are Jack Gerns, George Hervey, Joe Matusek, Wayne Shansey, Fritz Moreland, and Roger Tsuda. In the 440 yard dash is Heston Heald, Roger Haney, and Tom Virnelson. The long distance running will be handled by Bruce McKeithan, John Strickler, Bill Mace, Jim Scott, Carlos Mercado, and Dwight Fuller.

In the field events, Hervey, Shambarger, and Haney will shot put. Gerns, Shansey, and Tsuda will compete in the broad jump while Shansey, Haney, and Matusek will high jump.

The team automatically loses 27 points at each meet for lack of a discus thrower, pole vaulter, and a hurdler. In spite of this, Coach "Zip" Lehr is optimistically looking forward to a good season and Western fans wish them the best of luck.

ARCHERY

Highest Scorers: Helen McCune, Margaret Smith.

Early in the fall, when the weather permits, the girls who are interested in improving their archery skills spend one day a week at the field amongst bows, arrows, and quivers. This year, because experienced players were needed for the city-wide spring tournament, no new members were admitted in the spring. In the fall tournament among the members of the club, Helen McCune and Peggy Smith were the high scorers. In the spring city-wide tournament in 1951, Helen received the highest score because of her accurateness and steady hand.

BADMINTON

Among the numerous activities offered at Western, the various girls' sports clubs are received with much enthusiasm and interest. Badminton was one of the first clubs organized at the beginning of the school year. After several practices, the girls began their tournament. This year a team was composed of two girls, known as a doubles combination. Playing in this manner requires less energy but a greater amount of teamwork than singles competition. Usually four letters are given each year, one to the top team and one to the team that defeated the losers. Peggy Smith and Maura Wingo were the top winners with Jane Deininger and Pat Gibbons the runners-up.

Badminton Club was reorganized again the the spring with more than fifty girls turning out for the sport. Since there were so many interested, it was decided to hold three small tournaments instead of the regular large one. There were seven, eight, or nine teams participating in each tournament. The Boys' Gym was used along with the Girls' Gym, in order to take care of all participants in the Spring games.

VOLLEYBALL

Volleyball was very popular among the girls this year; consequently three teams had to be formed. The tournament was a keen one, because the teams were so evenly matched. Teams were coached by Mrs. Angle, with Sylvia DeFabritis, Shirley Guenther, and Pat Bryan as captains. Sylvia's team won all the games that it played; therefore it won the championship. Those girls receiving letters for exceptional volleyball playing were Pat Bryan, Sylvia DeFabritis, Kathy Foster, Shirley Guenther, and Charlotte Yates.

Those girls receiving points towards their letter in volleyball are Cornelia Stewart, Johanna Grieb, Mary Hay, Ann MacLeod, Betty Simmons, Nell Crowley, Mary Malone, Nicky Tyson, Jane Deininger, Virginia Wong, Margaret Lamb, Mary Lou Campbell, and Anne Akerman.

BASKETBALL

This year in basketball club, teams were formed among the girls before the first meeting. Since no more than two "W" Club members were allowed on a team, each team had a fair chance to win. The Tuesday group was directed by Mrs. Wade and the Wednesday group by Miss Whitesell. The competition was great, but Peggy Smith's team came out on top, with Jean Romborg's team running a close second.

Letters for outstanding basketball playing in Mrs. Wade's group were awarded to Elizabeth Chin, Sylvia DeFabritis, Mary Dodson, Vivian George, Johannah Grieb, Helene Loren, Jean Romborg, Cornelia Stewart, Peggy Ward, and Doris Wong.

Those in Miss Whitesell's group receiving letters were Karen Beeken, Jean Braswell, Barbara Durham, Dorothy Folk, Shirley Guenther, Ann MacLeod, Nita Nowlin, and Peggy Smith.

MODERN DANCING

About one-fourth of every girl's gym course is spent in limbering up muscles for the modern dance. The first week is spent stretching muscles, and the next week in working out the soreness and stiffness. There is a routine of leg swinging, leaping, exercising the ankles and feet, falling gracefully, and keeping time with music. After the basic material has been covered, and primarily mastered, creative interpretations are started. The gym class is divided into small work groups. In musical pantomime the girls act out anything from a budding flower to a train in motion. The music is furnished by a collection of cymbals, triangles, tambourines, and drums, one of which is played by a member of the dance group. In the end everyone gets into the swing of things and really enjoys the activity.

FOURTH REGIMENT

W. Eugene Webb
Major, 1st Btn., 4th Regiment

To the Men of the Fourth Regiment:

It was with a great deal of apprehension that I accepted the position of Major this year, as I realized the added responsibilities brought on by the unfortunate death of Colonel Hawkins. However, I should like to say that, due to the excellent co-operation and industry of the officers of the companies and of the staff, and with the unending help of Lieutenant Hayes, this year in the Corps has been one of my most memorable experiences. Many thanks for a great year and, to those who will lead in the future, keep Western on top!

EUGENE WEBB
Major of Fourth Regiment

To the Men of "H":

In my past three years in the Western High School Cadets, I have never worked with a better unit than Co. H of 1952. There were times in the training periods when things got rough. In these spots, I was thankful that I had my two lieutenants, Henry Gering and James Lyddane, and my hard working first sergeant, John Strickler. Without these men, my task would have been too hard to endure. I should like also to give my thanks to Lt. Hayes for his help and understanding in our trials and troubles.

Let's always keep "H" on top.

KENDRICK A. HOPWOOD
Captain, Co. "H"

To the Men of "K":

During each of my three years in the cadets I have looked upon "K" Company from a different angle. This year, as captain, I saw you develop, slowly but surely, into a polished unit. I should like to give my personal thanks to my two lieutenants, Ashby Moncure and Dick Zern, for their able assistance throughout the year. We shall not forget the help Lieutenant Hayes gave us as he worked with us in perfecting the company. To the boys in "K" I wish good luck in the future, and thanks for a great year. Keep up with the spirit that makes winning companies.

The Rifle Club is a cadet organization designed to give the cadets an opportunity to participate in rifle firing and competition. Six members were chosen to represent the Fourth Regiment as a rifle team after four months of firing.

These boys are John Strickler, Eugene Webb, Dale Long, Orlando Fernandez, John Sewell, and Jack Cochrane, in the order of their scores. In their matches this year, they defeated Coolidge, 1277-1047; Wilson, 1280-1137; and were matched against Anacostia and Bell to win the District Championship.

Western has captured the Interhigh Title for six consecutive years.

SABER CLUB OFFICERS

Jack Cochrane	President
Kendrick Hopwood	Vice-President
James Lyddane	Secretary-Treasurer

An important part of cadet activities is the function of the Sabre Club. Company and staff officers often meet to discuss the progress of the companies and generally to improve the training program. The officers are not just instructors on the drill field, as they also participate in such activities as map reading, Rifle Team, and the Crack Drill Squad. Socially, the Sabre Club worked hard making the Regimental Ball a success, and planning the various battalion rallies. Although small, by working with the Military Instructor, the Club was able to promote numerous activities for the corps throughout the year.

CHEVRONS CLUB

President John Strickler Secretary-Treasurer Bobby Polend
Vice-President Tom Wiener Sergeant-at-Arms Stephen Reymer

The Chevrons Club was organized to assist the cadet instructor in situations needing student help. In any activity pertaining to the Cadet Corps, members of the Chevrons Club will be present. The club is composed of "H" and "K" Company non-commissioned officers. Having already attained a grade, they work to be the leaders of the Western High School Cadet Corps of future years.
